

LTCC Intensive Course 2010

Statistical Pattern Recognition

Montana Giovanni, Imperial

This course will provide an introduction to statistical pattern recognition. The lectures will focus on different techniques including methods for feature extraction, dimensionality reduction, data clustering and pattern classification. State-of-art approaches such as ensemble learning and sparse modelling will be introduced. Selected real-world applications will illustrate how the techniques are applied in practice.